SUNDAY, OCTOBER 19, 2011 • 11AM-4:30PM

($30 FOR STUDENT SUMMIT ONLY)

AASHE and the National Wildlife Federation Campus Ecology Program invite college and university students from across the globe to attend the 2011 AASHE Student Summit.

The goal of the summit is to allow students to collaborate on projects taking place on their campuses, to share best practices, to learn about new and innovative initiatives, and to give an opportunity to develop solutions to climate change on their campuses and in their community.

The event will offer several “how to” workshops, networking time, and breakout session where students will discuss topics of their choice.

INCLUDES:

- Keynote Address, Bill McKibben, Founder of 350.org
- Sunday Evening Conference Kick-off
Student Summit Attendees are invited to participate in the AASHE Conference Welcoming Address, Keynote Speaker Wangari Maathai, Grand Opening of the AASHE EXPO and Conference Reception on Sunday night.
